Reverend J-Glenn Murray, S.J.

Pinnacle, Pulpit & Pew- Bringing it all together

Father J-Glenn Murray, SJ has been recently assigned as a parochial vicar at Saint Aloysius Gonzaga Church, a Jesuit parish in the shadow of our nation's Capitol, in the Archdiocese of Washington, DC. He has been a member of the Maryland Province of Jesuits for the last 39 years; having been ordained to priestly ministry twenty-eight years ago in June 1979.

Having received a Bachelors Degree in Philosophy and Communications from Saint Louis University in 1970, a Masters Degree in Divinity with a concentration in Liturgy from the Jesuit School of Theology in Berkeley, California in 1983, he has since pursued studies in Preaching at the Aquinas Institute in Saint Louis (1992-1993) and recently completed a Doctor of Ministry degree with a concentration in Liturgy at the Catholic Theological Union of Chicago (May 2006).

He was an Associate Pastor at Holy Cross Church in Durham, NC while a campus minister at Duke University. He taught and was Vice-Principal at Saint Frances Academy, the oldest Black Catholic High School in the Western Hemisphere from 1981 to 1988.

He was the principal drafter of the United States Bishops document, Plenty Good Room: the Spirit and Truth of African American Catholic Worship. Since that publication, the majority of his articles have appeared in the bi-monthly liturgical newsletter, Plenty Good Room, a former periodical of Liturgy Training Publications of Chicago.

SWLC Mission Statement

Our primary mission is directed toward the local Church at the parish and diocesan level. We are committed to educational programs and regional workshops which will stimulate the people of God to that "full, conscious, and active participation in liturgical celebrations called for by the very nature of the liturgy." (CSL, 14) One of the principal ways in which we have achieved this end is through the sponsorship of an Annual Study Week. This four-day study week is held in January each year; dioceses of the region take their turn in hosting the study week. Now in its forty-seventh year, the study week has been hosted in almost every diocese of the region and has addressed a wide range of topics. We have made a particular commitment to reach out to smaller dioceses with limited resources; in 1994 we hosted the Study Week in Tyler, Texas, the newest diocese of our region.

SWLC Sponsored Hispanic Music Competition

In alternate years the Southwest Liturgical Conference sponsors a Hispanic Music Competition. The competition encourages and recognizes new talent within the liturgical community. In addition to cash prizes awarded through the competition, the original works are performed at the Study Week where the prize is awarded.

Commissioning of Music for Liturgical Celebrations

In years in which the Hispanic Music Competition is not held, the SWLC has committed some of its financial resources to the commissioning of music for liturgical celebration.
